

North East Scotland College Hair and Beauty Festival 2017

24 November 2017

The spectacular North East Scotland College Hair and Beauty Festival 2017 takes place on Monday 27th November at Aberdeen's Beach Ballroom. The festival, which will see hundreds of models styled live on the competition floor, is organised annually by North East Scotland College.

This inspirational event, which is now in its fourteenth year, showcases the work of top hairdressing and beauty therapy students and trainees from across Scotland who attend to participate in a number of highly creative competitions which range from Avant Garde and Creative Styling (hair) through to Fantasy Make-up (theme - flora and fauna) and Nail Art (theme - flower power).

Hair and beauty salons from across the North East and Scottish colleges who offer hair & beauty in their curriculum have been invited to participate. Over one hundred and fifty entries from colleges have been received and, in addition to salon-based trainees and professional hairdressers, will be competing to be crowned North East Trainee Hairdresser and Make-Up Artist of the year and North East Hairdresser of the Year.

Pupils from various local schools studying hairdressing as part of a College link scheme are also competing, along with first-year trainees in the Freestyle competitions (themes - Roarin 40s and Unicorn).

Lesley Ingram, Hair and Beauty Faculty Manager at NESCol, said, "Competitions like the North East Scotland College Hair and Beauty Festival give trainees fantastic competition practice which helps them go on to take part in larger competitions nationwide. This makes it an essential event for all students and trainees in the region."

The competition will be judged by officials from the National Hairdressing Federation and local business owners with certificates and prizes being presented to winners on the day. Entrants will be styling their models live on the competition floor giving plenty of photo opportunities across all hair and beauty categories.
